

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Analysis Plus Returns to AXPONA for 2022

Featuring its highly acclaimed Silver Apex cable line and other high-end products

FLUSHING, MI – March 28, 2022 – Analysis Plus, the manufacturer of high-end cables and connectors for both home and pro audio, has announced their return to AXPONA as an exhibitor in Chicago on April 22-24, 2022. AXPONA (Audio Expo North America) will be celebrating its first in-person event since the pandemic began and brings together music lovers, seasoned audio experts, audiophiles, and musicians under one roof to explore and shop hundreds of exhibitors.

Analysis Plus can be found in the Exhibit Hall at booth #9316 and will be displaying a variety of products including their highly acclaimed Silver Apex line of cables. Silver Apex interconnects and speaker cables have consistently received outstanding reviews from respected media outlets over the years and are engineered for true high-end value and performance.

Visitors to the booth should ask for a Special Discount Card, which can be used when ordering through the Home Audio Store on their website. As always, Analysis Plus products are available through their trusted dealers.

About Analysis Plus

Now in its 29th year, Analysis Plus began as a scientific research and design company and is now focused primarily on two markets: High-end Home Audio and the Music/Pro Audio industry. Get more detailed information at: <https://homeaudio.analysis.plus>.

Media Contact

Jeffrey D Brown
949-287-4408
media@analysis.plus

###